Next Generation Lubricants with Historical Experiences 1893-2019

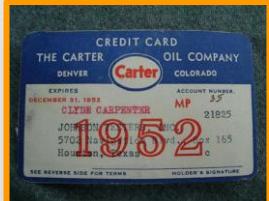

1893 - Carter Oil Company

Was founded by John Joyce Carter in 1893. It soon became a subsidiary of Standard Oil. Later, it would prove significant to the development of Exxon.

1915 - Carter moved its headquarters to Tulsa

Carter was an innovative and dynamic firm, and it played a formative role in the development of Oklahoma's 'oil patch'.

1962 - Carter Oil beginnings go back as far as 1962

When the North American Standard Oil Company (Creole in Venezuela), nowadays known as Exxon-Mobil, launched its business operations in Venezuela.

Carter became a recognized brand throughout the United States because they formed an extensive network of gas stations and its emblem appeared on all road maps of the United States.

1970 – 2018 Carteroil continued its expansion as a brand

By opening markets in Colombia, Costa Rica, Honduras, Guatemala, as well as other countries in Latin America. In order to provide competitive prices and high-quality products, Carteroil began to produce lubricants in Houston, Texas for local distribution and export.

CARTEROIL

In 2019, CARTEROIL USA Inc.

It is a company based in Houston, Texas, with the re-launching of this brand, the company aims to introduce new products, as well as keep manufacturing its current ones, always in compliance with The American Petroleum Institute (API) standards.
